Notes on Cultural Resources Management in the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers

HERITAGE MATTERS: Notes on Cultural Resources Management in the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers is intended to contribute to the Chief of Engineers' strategic goal of effective communication and will aim to assist subject matter experts, planners, tribal liaisons, operations specialists and all team members in the Corps concerned about the management of the cultural environment.

Huntington District Archeologist Honored By West Virginia

Huntington District Archeologist Bob Maslowski was honored by the State of West Virginia with the Distinguished West Virginia Award. The award, presented to Bob by West Virginia Governor Bob Wise in November 2003, "recognizes people who have contributed significantly to West Virginia and have brought attention to the state." Bob's record of achievement with Huntington District for the last 28 years led to the presentation of the award.

A more thorough description of Bob's work and his thoughts on receiving the award can be found in a 20 November 2003 article appearing in The Herald-Dispatch newspaper. Access to the article can be obtained by going to <http://www.herald-dispatch.com/2003/November/20/LNlist6.htm>

Los Angeles District Archeology Newsletter

There are not that many of you getting this newsletter that remember Pat Martz (now Dr. Patricia Martz, Professor of Anthropology at California State / Los Angeles) when she worked for Los Angeles District. Those that do, and the youngsters among us, will be interested to read about the work she is doing with Los Angeles District in a recent all-archeology edition of the district newsletter, The Newscastle. Edited and written by the District's Office of Public Affairs, The Newscastle highlights work that is being accomplished by District Archeologists Steve Dibble, Rod McLean, Richard Perry, Pam Maxwell and others.

The entire edition of the newsletter, Volume 33, Number 7 Special Edition, can be viewed on-line at:

Advisory Council on Historic Preservation Issues Fall 2003 Casebook

The Advisory Council on Historic Preservation (ACHP) has issued its latest Casebook on its website. The Fall 2003 Casebook "features a number of Federal historic preservation cases that involve creative treatments and strategies related to Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act. . .". The Fall 2003 Casebook can be viewed electronically at <http://www.achp.gov/casesfall03.html>

Legislative Affairs

The Senate Committee on Indian Affairs (SCIA) and the House Resources Committee (HRC) are in recess and currently have no hearings scheduled on cultural resources management issues. To view past Committee hearings, identify Committee members, and view member biographies go to the Committee homepages at: <http://www.senate.gov/~scia/index.html> and <http://resourcescommittee.house.gov/>

Instructions for Contributors to HERITAGE MATTERS

This newsletter is intended to improve communication on management of the cultural environment throughout the Corps. We hope that future editions will contain contributed narratives from team members throughout the agency. With your help, these notes can become a forum for sharing of experiences and an opportunity to learn from others. We welcome your thoughts, questions, success stories and lessons learned so that we can share them on these pages. Contributed articles can be as long as it takes to relay information, but we recommend 2 – 3 paragraphs. Please:

- - Use MS Word
 - - Use “normal” style
 - - Use Times Roman font, 10 point
 - - Left justify text with double spacing between paragraphs
 - - Begin articles with a short title in bold Arial font, 11 point
 - - Follow the title with the author(s) name and organization
 - - Include an end line with contact information including telephone number and e-mail address
